

Berkeley Ensemble Online: #SketchaSolo – Terms of Submission

1. It is your responsibility that the composition you submit to #SketchaSolo must be entirely your own work. We are keen to hear your own original idea, however if you are inspired by an existing musical work, you are responsible for any permissions needed to use this (either directly, or otherwise) in your composition and for its subsequent involvement in the #SketchaSolo project.
2. The Berkeley Ensemble does not accept liability for content of compositions submitted to #SketchaSolo and any content found to contain material which infringes copyright and/or where relevant permissions have not been granted will be removed from the Berkeley Ensemble's social media channels.
3. In submitting your composition to #SketchaSolo you give permission for the Berkeley Ensemble to publish, use and reproduce your work on their social media channels, both during the project and in the future. Your name and school will automatically be attributed to your composition, unless anonymity is requested when the submission is logged.
4. Details about you and your composition gathered through submission to #SketchaSolo will be used in accordance with the Berkeley Ensemble's Privacy Policy (LINK)
5. Your composition may also be used in connection with further Berkeley Ensemble Online activities, and/or possible expansion of the #SketchaSolo project.